What prevents you from donating to community/charitable organisation?	Do you donate to multiple community/charitable organisations or just the one?
	Same charity
Peter Mac Cancer Foundation, Red Cross	A few!
I don't believe all charities are transparent and honest with donators, plus i'm broke as fuck and as a student only make enough to live independently	0
Money
Money and trust in an organisation	I donate only to the blood bank fought nightly
Financial struggles	Multiple
I would say mostly worried about what is really happening with the money and whether or not it ends up contributing to helping someone who really needs it	Multiple; I generally donate to causes that friends/family are supporting for example I might donate to a friend raising money for a particular charity for City2Surf which may change each year
Money + can't remember the last time I did donate Having money
nothing I do	just the one too many people asking for donations- I tend to stick to helping the local community eg schools, surf club, sporting events and local families etc	multiple
I guess it's not at the front of my mind and I don't go out of my way to do it. Also knowing where the money goes and etc.	I don't regularly fiscally donate to a charity but if a friend is doing an event like a run or something I'll donate to their charity
Financial hardship	Multiple
Student dept	Multiple
Financial reasons	Multiple
Unfortunately due to limited income, charitable organisations fall lower on my priority list than other expenditures	More than one - infrequently
If I don't support it, I want to know the funds are being used appropriately.	Multiple organisations
Wanting to know where my donations go to. I.e. how much goes into the pocket of the collector	Yes
Forgetful	Just one
I prefer to donate my time to charitable organisations. I am usually concerned by the administrative costs of some charities.	Multiple

What types of community/charitable organisations have you donated to in the past?	Do you donate to local or international organisations?	Is there a reason for this preference?
Research into children's illnesses
Local community;Aid	Local	Not really I just have more access to the local ones gold coin donations on muffy day	Not sure	n/a
Blood bank	Local	Trust in mire local personal organisations
Environmental;Local community;Overseas;Poverty	Local;International	Whoever needs it most at that time
Environmental;Local community	Local	I feel that people often prioritise overseas charities as they have this perception that because we are a first world country that we may not necessarily need the money as much, when really we have people and minority group
I'm not sure	Not sure
Environmental;Local community	Local	Seems like it has the most effect
Environmental	International	trust
Local community	Local	local companies helping local area
Overseas;Aid;Heath and research	Not sure
Environmental;Local community;Poverty;Aid;Domestic violence support	Local	I like to see direct support to my community first, then to my international community second
Environmental;Local community;Aid	Local;International
Local community	Local	No
Environmental;Local community;Poverty	Local;International	No particular reason, it is more to do with what the individual charity does as opposed to where the charity is based
Environmental;Local community;Poverty;Aid	Local	I like to support locally.
Local community;Aid	Local	Charity starts at home
Environmental	Local;International	No not overly, just good to spread donations in Australia and overseas.
Poverty	Local

How would you rate your perception of community/charitable organisations using your donations appropriately?	What was the reason for this score?
6	I have done a lot of research into the charity before I started donating
6	Theres always a bad guy
2	already stated
3	Sensationalised news of corruption
3	You never know what percentage of donations end up in "administration", I've seen first hand what the misuse of aid donations looks like in Nepal
4	It's when you don't necessarily always see outcomes and these charities can sometimes be huge organisations where I wonder if money is going towards running the charity or actually contributing
3	I never know where my money is ACTUALLY going, although they say where the money goes, you don't actually know
5	Charity owners are always rich
7	large company that seems to be doing good
7	its usually for local events or residents (you know they are legit fundraisers)
5	I believe most charities have good intentions but some don't and they ruin it for the rest of them. There is a charity register that is looked after by the ATO they have to comply with standards and get audited to ensure that the
5	If the charity is NGO I would strongly trust, but if they outsource to different companies and are private I don't always trust my money is being directed appropriately
4	Unsure of where the money goes or what it's spent on entirely
4	Unfortunately in this day and age, profit and income is People's main priority and it is almost difficult to trust that there are still 100% good and charitable people in every day scenarios
5	I can never be sure the funds are used appropriately
3	Often collector's are in it for themselves (perceived)
5	I believe they would disperse the funds appropriately.
4	Depends on the organisation. I am sceptical of many larger and international charities that have high administrative overheads. I try to research charities before donating.

How much on average would you say you donate at a time?	What is your most common medium of donation to charity?	Is there a reason for this preference?	Which one of these factors would you say has the most bearing over your choice to donate?
$1 - $4	Cash	There is a donation box at my office	Type of charity
$21 - $30	Direct Debit	Set and Forget	Type of charity
$1 - $4	Cash	it's not really applicable	Feeling in the moment
Prefer not to say
$21 - $30	Cash		Type of charity
$11 - $20	Website	Gives a chance for the cause to give more info	Whichever collector is least annoying, most polite
$21 - $30	Website	Convenience	Feeling in the moment
$1 - $4	Credit/Debit card (paypass/tap)	PayPass is a lot easier	Where you are
$5 - $10	Credit/Debit card (swipe)	Ease	Feeling in the moment
$21 - $30	Credit/Debit card (paypass/tap)	Nice guy rang up over phone and we talked for 30 mins	Feeling in the moment
$41 +	Website	go fund me. otherwise we donate vouchers for the shop	Type of charity
$41 +	Website	Easy	Feeling in the moment
$11 - $20	Cash	I have more spare cash than digital, most cash used is from my tips	Feeling in the moment
$11 - $20	Website		Type of charity
$11 - $20	Website	No	Feeling in the moment
$5 - $10	Cash	It is usually what I have on me	Amount asked for
$31 - $40	Cash	Most donations are made when people approach me	Type of charity
Prefer not to say	Cash	Instant, usually driven by right organisation for the time	Type of charity
$11 - $20	Website	Convenient	Feeling in the moment
Prefer not to say	Idk.		Type of charity

What ways have you seen to donate to a charitable organisation in the City of Sydney?	Out of these ways to donate - which one do you perceive as being most effective?	Why do you feel this way?
Anyone who feels they belong to a group, but that that group doesn't belong to the larger population.		5
Change buckets as I walk past them normally	Ones that are just in the moment	Its a lot easier to just do rather than overthink it
red cross?	i think making people aware of the issue to provoke change is more valuable than money	because you can't throw money at problems, compassion and tools are more valuable
Time , money, physical donations	Physical donation e.g food and clothes and time	You don't know what people are going to do with your money and how much actually goes to the cause
Websites, street salesman	Website	More legitimate
I suppose most commonly are donation pages set up for events and things but I suppose also smaller efforts such as coin donation boxes	I suppose online as it's convenient and in your face
Starlight children's foundation, coin box at restaurants/shops	Coin box donations	Because people always put in their loose change when they are leaving a shop/restaurant
Guy on street, billboards, phone calls,	Guy on street	Hard to say not to an actual person on the side walk, over the phone	on the side walk	i like peoples smiles and their genuine concern for their issue
go fund	go fund me	super easy to donate and share the cause via facebook
I don't know a specific city of Sydney charity	?	?
Online campaigns, sidewalk collections, public space booths	Side walk collection	I feel it's more accessible to everyone, to just throw in some spare change when you're walking past
	When the charity workers don't hustle	People want to give charity when it's their own choice not when people ask for it
People approaching me and other posters in windows or television advertisements	When people have approached me in my workplace	Because I feel as though I can't say no or walk away
Cash collection, Pledges.	Cash	Ifunds are immediately available to the charity
Bucket, subscription	Bucket	Ease and I know what I have
Though advertising online, bus stops and TV	Online	Because you can be quickly and easily navigated to the payment link and website.
	Being asked to give by secular and non-paid volunteers.	I feel that those raising funds for charity should be doing so for charitable reasons.

Out of these ways to donate - which one do you perceive as being least effective?	Why do you feel this way?
I hate being stopped and harassed by pushy people	Its just annoying
Money	You don't know where money is going
Annoying street salesman who use guilt trips to get their commission	It's not a fair representation of the cause they are acting on behalf of
Standing in the city asking for donations	People are less inclined to go up unless they are passionate about donating
Phone	Feels intrusive
over the phone	people trust more when having face to face contact the people that stand out the front of coles trying to approach you when leaving the shop	its off putting and you feel pressured and maybe feel like you are going to get stuck talking for too long and having to sign up to ongoing donations
Public space booths	Because they're usually a subscription service for regular donations, and that's not accessible to everyone
Probably poster advertisements	Because they are more difficult and infrequent to spot
Pledges	People have time to reassess and are removed from the situation which may result in changing their mind
Subscription	Commitment to subscription is not appealing
Bus stop	Because you have to remember the number or website to donate and easily forget to donate.

Have you seen the impact of a community/charitable organisation in the City of Sydney? If yes, what was this? If no - what impact would you like to see?
n/a not particularly.
I feel like established organisation like Red Cross blood, oasis homeless shelters , Samaritan , life line etc have a significant impact
No, but I haven't donated to a charity claiming to change things here recently. I'd like to see more support for youth homelessness
One Eighty charity. You can visibly see outcomes from this charity with money going to coordinate sessions that get conversations started about mental health
No, I'm not too sure because I haven't really seen the impact largely No, maybe like a public building for that sort of thing red cross blankets I think yes the local school does fundraisers all the time to be able to buy certain supplies that they know all use
I really don't have any feedback for this
But what would be good would be to to find a charity that needs skills based donations - eg local charity needs someone to help process invoices or do bookkeeping. Instead of using donations to pay for this work why not s
Yes, theres a primary school on crown Street in Surry Hills that's has a community garden that is available by donation and helping out, it's great for kids and family's and couples in the area to get involved
Not specifically individual to a particular charity.
Food and shelter for the homeless
Yes, food for the homeless
No
